- 19.8 Accompaniments may be by piano or pre-recorded accompaniment for all solos. Pre-recorded accompaniments shall be limited to piano sounds except for 11.a.1. (c) Multiple Percussion. The soloist shall be responsible for providing sound equipment to play the pre-recorded accompaniment. It shall be of suitable quality, so that the accompaniment shall be clearly audible to the adjudicator. The contest organising committee shall ensure that a suitable power outlet is available at all venues.

20 CANCELLATION SUBCOMMITTEE

- 21.2 If practicable, the Management Committee must deal with the protest as follows:
- (a) Any band or person that the Management Committee considers to have an interest in the protest must be given not less than two hours notice in writing -
 - i) advising that the Management Committee is to consider the protest; and
 - ii) advising the time and place of the meeting at which the consideration will be given; and
 - iii) advising the band or person of the matters to be considered; and
 - iv) inviting the band or person to make a comment or to offer an explanation either verbally or in writing.

- (b) If a band or person wishes to make a comment or offer an explanation, then they may do so either orally at the meeting or in writing prior to the meeting, and such comment or explanation will be considered by the Management Committee.
 - (c) Notice under this regulation is properly given if handed to the person that the Management Committee considers to have an interest in the matter, or in the case of a band, if handed to the secretary, president, or conductor of that band.
- 21.3 If the Management Committee is satisfied after having followed the procedure stipulated in regulation 21.2 that a band or a member of a band has committed a breach of any of these regulations or otherwise been unreasonable or unfair, then the Management Committee may:

 - (b) Disqualify the offending band or person in respect of any Contest or event in which the offender has taken part.
 - (c) Fine the offending band or person an amount not exceeding $500.00 each.

- (a) One Chief Marching Judge
 - (b) Three Drill Judges
 - (c) One Inspection Judge

 - (e) One Marshall
 - (f) Two or more Entertainment Judges
- 27.4 A meeting of drum majors, judges and the marshal must be held at a suitable time prior to the event.

- 27.6 The drum major may only use a whistle in the area of the event when the band is actually competing in the event.

- 27.7 No oral word of command is permitted after the command "quick MARCH" is given until after the band has halted at the completion of the event.
- 27.8 The drum major may use a whistle, mace, staff, stick, cane or arm signal, or any combination thereof, to direct or control evolutions during the event. All signals must be given with precision and in a drill-like manner.
- 27.9 Bands may be penalised by the Chief Marching Judge for any breach of these regulations. Before doing so, the Contest Manager must be consulted, and other judges may also be consulted. The Chief Marching Judge will then have absolute discretion to impose a penalty by way of multiples of half points.
- 27.10 Where a breach of these regulations may result in disqualification of the band concerned, the Contest Manager will be responsible for investigating the breach and making a decision.

28 DUTIES OF JUDGES AND MARSHALL

- 28.1 Chief Marching Judge The Chief Marching Judge will:
- (a) check all aspects of the Street March route to the satisfaction of the Contest Manager;
 - (b) hold the drum majors' meeting;
 - (c) co-ordinate the duties of all judges to ensure that all bands are judged in a fair and uniform manner and in accordance with these regulations; and
 - (d) impose an appropriate penalty on any band which fails to comply with these regulations.
- 28.2 Drill Judging Panel The panel will comprise the Chief Marching Judge plus the three Drill Judges. Judging will be based on dressing, covering and marching ability.
- 28.3 Inspection Judge The Inspection Judge will inspect instruments and uniforms while the band is assembling for the event. Judging will be carried out from the perimeter of the band. The age of instruments and uniforms will not be taken into account provided that they are clean and that attention has been given to making the uniforms presentable.
- 28.4 Drum Major Judges
- (a) The Drill Judging Panel will judge all drum majors in the event. Judging will be based on deportment, dress and bearing, drill at the halt, word of command, control, signals including the salute, drill, and marching style and ability.
 - (b) The Inspection Judge will inspect the drum major's uniform at the same time as inspecting the band. The age of the uniform will not be taken into account provided that it is clean and that attention has been given to making it presentable.

- (c) The Inspection Judge and the four Drill Judges will each be allocated 50 points. The champion drum major will be decided on the basis of the aggregate points to a maximum of 250 points.

28.5 Marshall: The Marshall will ensure that bands assemble at the designated holding area in the correct order of draw, and that they proceed promptly to the starting point as required. The Marshall will also direct each drum major to commence the performance, normally allowing a two-minute interval between bands.

28.6 Entertainment Judges: The Entertainment Judges will select one band that in their view displays the highest overall entertainment value on the parade. The judges have a broad discretion to determine what they consider entertaining. No points will be awarded. There will be at least two Entertainment Judges with one being a VIP located on the saluting dais and the other(s) dispersed amongst the crowd.

29 PERFORMANCE REQUIREMENTS

29.1 Participation for each grade will be compulsory or optional as directed by the Management Committee.

29.2 The Executive Manager will, 14 days before the start of the Contest, forward to each competing band a copy of a plan indicating the band assembly area, starting point, route and changes of direction, saluting base, finishing point and dispersal area, along with advice of any obstacles or special conditions along the route.

29.4 Each band will participate in the order of draw as published in the official programme.

29.5 There must be a minimum of 15 brass instrumentalists in each band, but there is no limit on the maximum number of players or on the formation of the band. Additional people cannot join the band's formation during the march.

29.6 When instructed to do so by the Marshall, the drum major will march the band to the Starting Point, cover and dress the band, and stand the band at ease.

29.7 When advised by the Marshall to proceed, the drum major will come to attention, pause, turn right about to face the band, pause, call the band to attention and give the command - "Band will prepare to play - BAND READY". The drum major will then turn right about and give the command - "Band will advance - by the centre - quick MARCH". The band will then proceed along the Street March route.

29.8 Drill will be judged from the time that the drum major is advised by the Marshall to proceed until the last rank of the band passes the Finishing Point. The band must continue marching until it reaches the designated dispersal area.

29.9 Each band must play continuously over the full length of the route.

- 29.10 In the normal situation where hats are worn, the drum major must execute the standard “eyes-right” and salute at the dais. Where a dispensation from wearing hats has been granted, and the drum major is not wearing a hat, the drum major must execute an "eyes-right" only.
- 29.11 A band may perform evolutions of a forward-moving nature during the event, and there will be no restriction on the type of evolution used at changes of direction of the route.
- 29.12 The four Drill Judges will each be allocated 100 points, and the Inspection Judge will be allocated 50 points.
- 29.13 The two Music Judges, each allocated 50 points, will be stationed at suitable points along the route, preferably close to the Starting and Finishing Points.
- 29.14 The results for each grade will be decided on the basis of the aggregate drill, and music points to a maximum of 550 points.

APPENDIX C

C DRILL JUDGING CRITERIA

These requirements do not form part of the regulations, and are included only as a guide to drum majors.

A band on the Street March is executing an exercise in covering, dressing and marching style, and these are the three main areas that must be evaluated. However, the drum major's ability to lead and direct the band is a very important facet of the performance, especially when the band is approaching and executing a change of direction and setting the new line of advance. In this regard, the drum major must be judged as an integral part of the band. (The drum major is also assessed separately for the purpose of selecting the Champion Drum Major.)

Covering

- An even interval of two paces (76 centimetres) between players must be maintained across the front rank.
- All files must march directly behind the file leader.
- There must be no body wobble from side to side or bouncing of heads.

Dressing

- An even interval of two paces must be maintained between ranks from front to rear of the band.
- All ranks must be straight, dressed by the centre and square to the line of advance.
- There must not be any surging back and forth of the ranks.

Marching Style

- All players must be in step.
- The band should march in a bold, positive style with good body control and posture.
- The style should be rhythmic and controlled.

- Players should not lean forward or backwards, or look at the ground.
- All instruments of each type should be held uniformly, with forward-facing bells horizontal.

Most judging will be from a front or rear view, and there will only be limited time to assess bands from the flank. Each judge will develop a judging plan and follow it consistently for each band.

The band should be as close as possible to the centre of the street, should dominate the surroundings, and should march with a good rhythmic style and near perfect covering and dressing, executing changes of direction with polish and control.

At a change of direction, the judge should be positioned on the inside of the corner and must be alert to the many variations that can be used to execute the turn (pivot wheels, book wheels, forms, circles). The judge must evaluate the execution and presentation and consider the degree of difficulty involved.

Inspection

This facet is as important as drill judging and is included to assist in maintaining an acceptable standard of dress and presentation. The current method of conducting the inspection has been designed to eliminate the delays that were experienced in the past.

In approaching this task, the judge will be looking for the band that is best presented overall, with emphasis on cleanliness and smartness of the uniforms and cleanliness of instruments.

Champion Drum Major

The criteria cover deportment, dress and bearing, drill at the halt, word of command, control, signals and drill, and marching style and ability.

There are no set rules laid down as to how each facet must be executed or judged. Therefore, the judge has some licence for personal tastes, biases and attitudes. The selection of the champion drum major does not take into account the band's performance, but the way in which the drum major controls and positions the band is of importance and must be considered.

The winner will be the drum major judged as having displayed to the best advantage and standard of performance all of the facets laid down under the judging criteria and will be decided on the overall complete performance rather than individual areas of the judging criteria. However, there will be occasions when the final decision can be reached only after very careful consideration of certain aspects of the performance, especially when there are two or more very close contenders.
